What is the Columbia Energy Storage Project?

The Columbia Energy Storage Project is an innovative new battery system that will advance a more sustainable, reliable and cost-effective energy future. The Columbia Energy Storage Project extends Alliant Energy's historic presence in Columbia County while also inspiring a coalition of partners committed to a more sustainable energy future.

What is the energy storage show?

Launching in 2025, The Energy Storage Show will feature battery and energy storage systems for large-scale applications ranging from utility and grid scale systems through to onsite and domestic technologies. Along with the full systems, the show will feature the components, services and technology to develop, install, operate and maintain them.

What is the energy storage show 2025?

The Energy Storage Show 2025 will be a dedicated exhibition of innovative energy storage solutions. Both shows will be brought together under the new Energy Technology Live brand, providing a unique opportunity to discover the technology that's powering the energy transition.

What is CO<sub>2</sub> based energy storage?

CO<sub>2</sub>-based energy storage is a proven technology that delivers exceptional efficiency compared to many other long-duration energy storage systems. Using mainly steel, and an initial supply of water and CO<sub>2</sub> to construct the system, it is highly sustainable and easily recycled at the end of life.

Is Pacific a good location for an energy storage system?

The town of Pacific is an ideal location for an energy storage system due to the availability of existing electric grid infrastructure. The project, part of a multi-phase site redevelopment effort, will increase energy reliability and resilience while delivering incredible customer value.
