

Standard capacitors form an important component of the measurement and instrumentation in the electrical laboratory. A high-voltage (HV) standard capacitor of 100 pF, 12 kV (rms) is designed using the charge simulation method (CSM).

IEC 60358-4:2018 Coupling capacitors and capacitor dividers - Part 4: DC and AC single-phase capacitor dividers IEC 60358-4:2018 applies to DC or AC single-phase capacitor-dividers connected between line and ground used for manufacturing Voltage Transformers as well as for other applications. IEC 60358-4:2018 is to be used in conjunction with the latest edition of IEC ...

IEC 62576:2018 describes the methods for testing electrical characteristics of electric double-layer capacitor cells (hereinafter referred to as capacitor) to be used for peak power ...

In the tender for the sixth substation equipment of the State Grid Corporation's power transmission and transformation project in 2018, the total number of scalars in the ...

To overcome this problem, this paper investigates a 110 kV on-site calibration system for EVTs, including a standard channel, a calibrated channel and a PC equipped with the LabView environment. The standard channel employs a standard capacitor and an analogue integrating circuit to reconstruct the primary voltage signal.
